ORGANIZER, RICK LOWE

CHANGING SASKATOON NEIGHBOURHOODS

Friday, September 9, 2016, 6 – 9 pm at the Friendship Inn

Free, everyone welcome! Make your voice heard!

Tea and bannock will be served.

Neighbourhood development or gentrification?
Rejuvenation or white-washing? What's going on in Riversdale, Pleasant Hill, and nearby neighbourhoods?
How do current residents imagine the future of their communities?

Come hear Project Row Houses founder Rick Lowe and local artists, affordable housing advocates, activists, and neighbourhood residents discuss the role of art
and creativity in education, social safety nets, housing, and sustainability. Join the conversation with your questions and ideas!

RICK LOWE

Rick Lowe is a Houston-based artist who in 1993 founded Project Row Houses, a community-based arts and culture non-profit in one of the city's oldest African American neighbourhoods.

Lowe's unconventional approach to community revitalization transformed this long-neglected neighbourhood into a visionary public art project centred on the art and culture of African Americans. It is a project that continues to evolve, two decades since its inception.
